Gabriele SINGER
APA-Austria Presse Agentur

Gabriele Singer started working for the APA - Austrian Press Agency in 1990. Her professional experience includes several years of product development and project management in the multimedia and e-business sector.

Since 2004 she is product manager of APA-ZukunftWissen, Austria's biggest professional communications network for science, education, technology and innovation. The competence and know-how of the APA editorial team ensures the basic supply of information about science, education and culture to all interested groups, the media and in consequence the public. APA-ZukunftWissen networks a high-calibre community of science, education, research, politics and business, and has the effect for those taking part of an information turntable and outlet to the media.
